Welcome

Welcome to North Stradbroke Island (Minjerribah), home of the Quandamooka people. Known as ‘Straddie’ by the locals, the island is one of Australia’s natural treasures and best of all, is right on Brisbane’s doorstep.

It’s one of the world’s largest sand islands and is only an hour’s drive from Brisbane and 90 minutes from the Gold Coast. Access from Cleveland on the mainland is by Stradbroke Ferries vehicle ferry (45 minutes) or water taxi (25 minutes).

North Stradbroke Island is blessed with white sandy beaches, magnificent inland lakes, hidden waterways and scenic walks. One of the most spectacular, the breathtaking North Gorge walk, is a favourite with locals and visitors alike. It’s an amazing vantage point to spot wildlife with dolphins, turtles and manta rays often sighted from the headlands.

It also attracts hundreds of whale watchers who visit each year between June and November to watch the majestic humpback whales on their annual migration.

You only need to spend a few hours on Straddie to slip into the relaxed pace of island life. Whatever your holiday desire, Straddie has it all.

For the more adventurous, activities include bush walking, four wheel driving, sand boarding, kayaking and snorkelling just to name a few. The island is also well known for its surfing and scuba diving, with dive trips departing from the beach.

Those wanting to chill out can head to a day spa or unwind with yoga on the beach. Straddie’s beautiful beaches are ideal for a refreshing dip or a long walk. On the weekend, browse the colourful markets (see events page for dates) or enjoy a leisurely meal in the cafes and restaurants around the island.

You might even rediscover some of the simple pleasures of a real beach holiday – set up the wickets on the sand for a game of cricket, or toss a frisbee near the waves. Enjoy an ice cream while you watch a pod of dolphins at play, or barbecue some seafood caught by the local fishermen.

The island offers a range of accommodation to suit all tastes and budgets. Choose from resorts to backpackers and camping grounds, as well as rental homes and holiday units. Gather your family or a group of friends and spend a weekend in an architect-designed house with panoramic ocean views or book a site at an absolute beachfront camping ground.

The friendly locals, laidback atmosphere, abundant natural wonders and activities on offer means all visitors are spoilt for choice. Families, couples, groups of friends, local and international travellers can all enjoy an unforgettable holiday experience on North Stradbroke Island … where summer never ends!

Once you’ve been to Straddie, it will hold a special place in your heart.

The historic small town of Dunwich is often the first glimpse most visitors have of North Stradbroke Island.

It’s a handy place to pick up provisions from the fruit shop, bakery, general stores, butcher and bottle shop, but it’s the rich heritage of Dunwich that makes it so special.

A self-guided historical walk is a great way to explore the history of the township and the island’s colourful past as it winds its way past convict relics and graves dating back to shipwrecks in the 1800s.

You can pick up a copy of the North Stradbroke Island Heritage Trail from the ferry terminal office at Cleveland or on board the vessels as you make the journey across to the island.

If you don’t have time to make the walk, don’t miss a visit to the North Stradbroke Island Historical Museum in Welsby Street. Here you’ll find an impressive display of photographs, items retrieved from shipwrecks in local waters, information about early settlement and the island’s rich Aboriginal history.

There’s even a skull from a sperm whale, one of the largest ever found washed up on shore by the Queensland Museum. The museum is open Tuesday to Saturday from 10am to 2pm and Sunday from 11am to 3pm.

The Dunwich cemetery is also of historic significance, and contains the graves of more than 10,000 people, most of which are unmarked, as well as early European settlers.

Fishing off the jetty and swimming in the salt water enclosure are popular activities at Dunwich, and a picnic beneath the expansive camphor-laurel trees on the foreshore is an idyllic way to spend a few hours. A convict-built causeway also remains, although it has been expanded to accommodate modern ships.

If you’re looking for the perfect spot for a sundowner with a bay view and a relaxing meal, then call into one of the clubs, a favourite place with locals and visiting boaties. For a quick bite or a takeaway, there is the café and bakery in the main street, while the fruit shop serves up delicious coffee and light meals in a shady courtyard.

Dunwich is also the gateway to many of Straddie’s stunning natural wonders including Myora Springs and Brown and Blue Lakes. All three are ideal for wildlife viewing and the lakes, especially Brown, are popular swimming spots. Brown Lake is only a five minute drive from the township, and facilities including BBQs and a small children’s playground.

MMEIC deliver a range of Aboriginal Cultural Education Programs at Terra Bulla Leumeah, a Redland City Council bushland property situated at 151 Dickson Way, Myora on Minjerribah – North Stradbroke Island. The Elders named the site ‘Terra Bulla Leumeah’, the English translation is ‘A beautiful place, here I rest’. The site has a strong link to the recent and long-term past of Aboriginal people in the region as it was previously the old Myora Mission site. The Elders recall stories of their grandparents living on the land and its importance as a gathering place.

Terra Bulla Leumeah is also listed as a regional ecosystem of concern by the Department of Environment and Heritage Protection, due to the significant vegetation and habitat types present. MMEIC have recently upgraded the site with an extensive Bush Tucker Trail and landscaping to beautify the grounds. They have installed wheelchair access and a car parking area with a disabled car park as well as extra seating for their cultural education programs.

This upgrade project was kindly sponsored by Sibelco Australia Limited through the Straddie Sand Mining Community Fund, Redland City Council, Stradbroke Ferries / Stradbroke Island Holidays. Terra Bulla Leumeah is a beautiful destination where everyone can experience local Aboriginal culture and enjoy the natural beauty of the Island.

3. Take note of what flags are flying and be aware of the beach conditions.

Amity Point

Located between Dunwich and Point Lookout, Amity Point is a popular spot for families and fishermen who are drawn to its quaint fishing village atmosphere.

Amity's appeal begins with its relaxing ambience, sandy beaches, shaded shores and easy access to Moreton Bay. A swimming enclosure means everyone can swim in safety and the crystal clear water is ideal for snorkelling.

The jetty is ‘the’ spot to be for fishing on the incoming and outgoing tides. The nearby boat ramp provides easy access to the water, and friendly pelicans are regular visitors to the foreshore. It’s also a popular spot to watch the sunset and you might even spot a wild dolphin.

Amity has a number of fishermen who sell fresh seafood straight from the trawler direct to the public. Trawlers tie up at the jetty to offload the night’s catch of fresh prawns, crabs and fish. Watch out for roadside signs indicating where you can buy some of the day’s catch direct, or order some off the menu at the local restaurants.

Beside the camping ground is a shady children’s playground, equipped with an amenities block. It’s the ideal spot for a relaxing picnic or barbecue.

Amity may be small, but it still boasts a restaurant, Community Club and a general shop, all of which are well frequented by guests staying at the beachside accommodation. Enjoy a delicious al fresco meal surrounded by pandanus palms at the cafe or pick up some fresh prawns to enjoy with a cold beer by the beach.

There are no surf beaches at Amity, however 4WD access to Flinders surf beach is located on the edge of the township.

The accommodation range is surprisingly broad for such a small community and visitors can choose from cabins, bungalows, cottages and holiday homes, as well as the popular beachfront camping ground.

Cabarita Park is a fabulous location to enjoy a picnic or some fish and chips while you watch the sunset, and maybe you will see the dolphins and turtles that often swim by. A variety of birdlife can also be viewed from Amity’s beach.

Whether you stay for a weekend or a longer break, Amity’s laidback charm is sure to make a lasting impression.

Looking for somewhere to throw in a line or just relax? You can’t go past Amity Point.

Fishing

Straddie offers plenty of places from which to cast a line or launch a boat. Whether you are an avid angler or a holiday fisherman, one of the hardest decisions you will have to make is just where to throw your line in.

From the rock wall and jetty located at Amity Point to Jumpinpin, the stretch of uninterrupted beach running from the southern tip of the island to Point Lookout, the fishing options are limitless. The 20 metre deep Rainbow Channel, situated off Amity Point, is ideal for tuna and mackerel, whereas foreshore fishing is available everywhere from Main Beach at Point Lookout to Flinders Beach just near Amity Point. Main Beach is also your best chance of catching your own bait including pipis and beach worms. There are also fishing charters available where all you have to bring is your hat and your camera.

Amity Point is bordered by the south passage bar and common catches are mackerel, long tail tuna, tailor, spotty and school mackerel, bonito and reef species. From the rocks area off Point Lookout catches can include snapper, sweetlip, yellow fin tuna, wahoo, marlin and sailfish.

North Stradbroke Island offers an excellent fishing destination and has an incredible experience to offer everyone.

ROCK FISHING

Fishing, especially rock fishing, can be dangerous. Follow these basic safety tips at all times when rock fishing:

- Never fish by yourself. Fish in a group of at least three within sight of each other. If someone is washed in, one person can stay and help while the other alerts emergency services (dial 000). Mobile phone users can also dial 112 to access emergency services.
- Inform others of your plans. Always let friends or family know where you are going and when you will be back.
- Wear light clothing. Light clothing such as shorts and a spray jacket will let you swim easily if you are washed in. Jumpers may be heavy and difficult to take off.
- Wear appropriate footwear. Cleats, sandals and sandshoes with non-slip soles suit different surfaces. Use the appropriate shoes for the conditions.
- Carry safety gear. Wear a life jacket or buoyancy vest. Also bring something buoyant that can be easily thrown and held on to, to help you stay afloat. Carry ropes and torches.
- Never fish in exposed areas during rough or large seas. Make sure you are aware of local weather, swell and tidal conditions before going fishing. Listen to weather forecasts or call the weather information line on 1900 937 107. Be aware that conditions may change dramatically in a short period of time.
- Observe first, fish later. Spend some time (at least 30 minutes) watching your intended spot before fishing to get an idea of the conditions over a full swell / wave cycle. Wave conditions can get worse as the tide changes – you should know whether the tides are high or low and coming in or going out.
- Plan an escape route in case you are washed in. Stay calm – if you are washed in, swim away from the rocks and look for a safe place to come ashore or stay afloat and wait for help to arrive.
- Stay alert. Don’t ever turn your back on the sea – if the waves, weather or swell threaten your fishing spot then leave immediately.
Situated at the northern tip of the island, Point Lookout is actually a series of beaches and headlands which can be easily explored by foot. It is Queensland’s most easterly point and located only 20km from Dunwich and 19km from Amity Point.

There is always something to explore at Point Lookout. It could be the 4km walk between Frenchman’s Beach and Adder Rock with its rocky outcrops and tidal pool, or the seemingly endless expanse of Main Beach to Jumpinpin at the island’s southern tip.

Don’t miss the stunning beauty of the North Gorge walk with its breathtaking views across the Pacific Ocean. The walk is the perfect year-round vantage point for spotting turtles, dolphins and manta rays, and between June and November, one of the best spots on the East Coast to watch the annual migration of the majestic humpback whales.

There are two patrolled beaches – Cylinder and Main Beach – offering superb swimming and surfing. Main Beach’s 32km stretch of wide sandy beaches and rolling surf are ideal for island-style camping, swimming and fishing. A section of the beach is accessible by 4WD, via Point Lookout and Dunwich.

With the island being home to some of the best dive sites in South East Queensland, Point Lookout is the ideal departure point for enthusiasts. If you prefer less adventurous activities, early morning beach yoga at Home Beach is a special way to start the day.

There is also an impressive selection of restaurants, cafés and eateries to choose from. Whether it’s gelati on the beach, a lazy brunch or an à la carte dining experience, Point Lookout offers plenty of tasty options. You can also pick up everyday items from the local newsagent, bakery and convenience store.

On the weekend, browse the vibrant market stalls (see events page for dates) and don’t forget to pick up some local seafood, caught fresh the same day. The local whiting is a popular choice and is especially good.

Point Lookout also offers an expansive range of accommodation options catering for all needs and budgets. Choose from resorts, a stylish hotel, holiday houses and units or backpacker hostels and cabins. There are also several camping grounds situated within walking distance to the beaches and most facilities.

It’s the perfect coastal village, with some of the most spectacular ocean views in the world, but without the crowds.

Point Lookout, the resort centre of North Stradbroke Island, is home to world-class surfing beaches and spectacular seascapes.

Campfires
Did you know?

- That the average-sized campfire is capable of generating over 500 degrees of heat after burning for only three hours.
- That the average-sized campfire when extinguished with sand or dirt retains up to 100 degrees of heat for eight hours.
- That the average-sized campfire when extinguished with a bucket of water retains little or no heat after a period of ten minutes.

Remember any campfire that is left unattended for any period of time, particularly overnight, should be extinguished by using a bucket of water, not sand or dirt.

NORTH STRADBROKE ISLAND - 2015/16 VISITOR GUIDE 19
Eating Out

The eating out experience is as diverse as any great mainland destination – with one exception – the seafood comes direct from the sea to the island.

Straddie oysters, Moreton Bay prawns and locally caught fish are all in abundant supply, just waiting to be savoured by seafood lovers. The oysters are harvested fresh from local oyster beds and the trawlers deliver their catch daily so you are assured of eating the freshest seafood available.

Local seafood is a regular feature on the menu, or you might prefer to grab some fresh prawns and ice cold beers to enjoy outdoors.

Seafood aside, there’s plenty more to tempt all palates, and it’s available in an equally diverse array of settings ranging from casual cafés to à la carte restaurants.

Begin your day with a scrumptious breakfast. There are a variety of quaint cafés at Point Lookout, Amity Point and Dunwich offering tasty treats from tempting menus.

Throughout the day keep your eye out for selections from the hand painted signboards outside many popular eating places offering light, home cooked delights.

Options include gourmet café-style meals served in a shady garden courtyard or overlooking sweeping views of the Pacific Ocean. Maybe a takeaway hamburger or freshly-made roll will hit the spot after a morning spent surfing.

The island also has a number of clubs serving up hearty bistro-style meals. Some clubs feature special dining nights including great value ‘all you can eat’ buffets or home cooked roast dinners.

If you’re looking for something a bit more formal, the island is also home to a selection of restaurants. Relax over a cocktail before dinner, choose from the à la carte menu and treat yourself to a special night out – island style. Options include seafood, modern Australian and Mediterranean cuisine.

If you want to make the most of the island’s natural beauty, you may choose to round up the troops and enjoy fish and chips or locally made pizza in one of the parks overlooking the bay and watch the sun set over the mainland.

From scrambled eggs to coffee and cake, delicious gelati to seafood platters, or a freshly grilled pub steak to a pie from the bakery – the choice is entirely yours.

The knowledge of the Quandamooka (Moreton Bay) people has been passed down through many generations and with such a close affinity with nature, they have learned to read the signs that tell them such things as when to expect a large school of fish or where honey can be found.

The sea eagle is known as MerrIGINPAH and the Quandamooka people used this sea bird when hunting for schools of fish. The bird flying over the water would show them where the fish were located and the people could then prepare for the catch.

When the lorikeets are plentiful it is a good season for sea mullet, or when the wattle is in flower it signals the beginning of the tailor season. When the Hop bush blooms, oysters are at their best and when the blackbutt is in flower, it means that parrot fish are in the bay. This is just some of the knowledge that has been handed down through the generations and is still used today to provide food for local families. There is an opportunity for both educational groups and individuals to experience these traditions and skills through the cultural workshops that are provided on the island.

The Salt Water Murris’ – Quandamooka Art Gallery is one of a handful of galleries in Australia that is owned and fully operated by Indigenous people. The centre has a diverse and inspiring display of traditional and contemporary artwork by local Indigenous artists who are all descendants of the Quandamooka clans. The gallery is located at 3 Ballow Road.

The North Stradbroke Island Historical Museum in Welsby Street, Dunwich also has information on the island’s rich Indigenous history.

The Quandamooka people’s desire is that future generations will value their stories and come to understand and appreciate the connection they have to the islands and waterways of Moreton Bay.

Aboriginal people can see things through nature, and have learned to live with and respect the environment.
With its close proximity to Brisbane, North Stradbroke Island is the ideal destination for conferences or business gatherings. Travelling to the island is convenient by regular fast passenger ferry services or vehicle ferry services from Cleveland. SURFING
The waves that roll into Straddie’s beaches have created a strong surfing culture on the island, and with it a number of internationally acclaimed surfers. The Straddie Assault which is held in October each year is the best chance to see the island’s surfing talent. Main Beach and Cylinder Beach offer the best surf conditions, and are very popular with body surfers, body boarders and board riders.

BEACH YOGA
Beach yoga is generally available in the early mornings. Run by local teachers, it’s a great way to relax and rejuvenate. Please check the noticeboards at the local stores for dates and times.

MARKETS
The popular Point Lookout Sunday markets at the community hall are the best place to pick up some of the island’s fantastic local products, including unique art and crafts, homemade jams or organic honey. The markets are held over two days on long weekends – check the hall noticeboard for dates.

FISHING
Whether you are an avid angler or a holiday fisherman, Straddie offers plenty of places to cast a line or launch your boat. Those who don’t have their own gear or want a bit more adventure can join a fishing tour with one of the local fishermen.

SCUBA DIVING
The island’s 5 star PADI dive centre offers daily scuba dive and snorkel trips. The most popular dive sites are Flat Rock, Boat Rock, Manta Ray Bommie and Shag Rock. All levels of divers are catered for.

4WD GUIDED TOURS
Several tour operators offer fully-guided 4WD tours which are an ideal way to explore out of the way island highlights if you don’t have your own vehicle. You’ll discover magical spots including freshwater lakes and beautiful beaches and bushland, always with time for a swim.

MORE ISLAND ADVENTURES
If you are still looking for a fun way to spend a day, sea kayaking is a popular choice. Tours usually depart from beautiful Cylinder Beach (depending on weather conditions) and often include snorkelling. Another popular activity is sand boarding – join a tour, grab a board and hit the “sand slopes”! Bookings are essential.

North Stradbroke Island offers a diverse range of experiences for everyone – whether you like a bit of adventure and fun or want a more relaxing holiday.

Caring for Straddie

How you can help us to keep Caring for Straddie:
- Insist on a calico bag or biodegradable plastic bag OR bring your own.
- Take a Pocket Ashtray with you when you go travelling around the island.
- Take your rubbish back with you to where you are staying and place your recyclable materials in the recycling bins provided.
- Adopt a minimal impact approach – leave only footprints, take only photos!

Caring for Lakes and Streams:
- Because the lakes and waterways of North Stradbroke Island are not regularly flushed, they are particularly sensitive to pollution and an artificial increase in nutrients.
- Never use soap, toothpaste or detergents in the waterways as these promote the growth of algae and affect the purity of the water and aquatic life. Take water at least 50 metres from the shore to wash dishes or shower.
- Powered craft are NOT permitted on Brown Lake or Blue Lake.

By Caring for Straddie together, we can enjoy the island’s natural beauty for years to come.
North Stradbroke Island is a fantastic location for spotting and observing marine life. From the ferry crossing to the North Gorge walk, the visitor to Straddie can see dolphins, whales, dugongs, manta rays and turtles. The best viewing points are located along the headlands and are all within walking distance of accommodation properties at both Amity Point and Point Lookout.

DOLPHINS
The waters surrounding North Stradbroke Island are home to both bottlenose and Indo-Pacific humpback dolphins and are visited by common and spinner dolphins. The area provides an abundance of bountiful foraging habitats for dolphins such as seagrass beds, mudflats, reefs and mangroves.

Point Lookout has a large population of resident bottlenose dolphins which varies seasonally between 700–1000 individuals. They can be seen feeding, sleeping and riding the waves in Frenchman’s Bay and off Cylinder Beach. This is the largest reported population of bottlenose dolphins in the smallest area in the world.

Norm’s Seat cliff-top observation point on the North Gorge walk at Point Lookout offers an excellent view of bottlenose and Indo-Pacific humpback dolphins playing and surfing the waves with the board riders.

DUGONGS
Moreton Bay is a well-known marine park and is one of the few places in the world where large numbers of dugongs can be found. These captivating creatures inhabit shallow tropical waters and are listed as vulnerable to extinction by the World Conservation Union. There are believed to be 600 to 700 dugongs who call the Moreton Bay area home. Although very shy, these mammals can be seen around Amity Point or during the crossing to the island from the mainland.

MANTA RAYS
The manta ray is a graceful and acrobatic animal and is the largest of the rays. While closely related to the shark, the manta ray is harmless and usually relaxed around divers, often allowing an up close and personal experience! A noted site for divers and snorkellers is Manta Ray Bommie, just off Point Lookout, which is one of the best places to dive with manta rays in Brisbane and is mentioned by Queensland Tourism as one of Queensland’s top dive sites! Groups of three to four manta rays can usually be spotted during the summer months, when numerous rays converge on Manta Ray Bommie to be cleaned by smaller fish.

TURTLES
Green and loggerhead marine turtles inhabit the sub-tropical waters surrounding North Stradbroke Island. They are long-living, taking up to 50 years to reach maturity. Turtles have separate locations for breeding and feeding and thus some turtles can travel from as far away as Papua New Guinea and New Caledonia to nest on Stradbroke Island. Female turtles come ashore between December and February to lay their eggs, something they can do up to four times a season! Frenchman’s and Deadman’s beaches are usually the preferred location for turtle nesting.

Moreton Bay is the only place in the world where turtles and dugongs still live on the doorstep of a major city.

Whether you are diving in the waters off Straddie or spotting whales and dolphins from the rocky headlands of Point Lookout, the marine life of the island will amaze you.
The North Gorge headland at Point Lookout is considered one of the best land-based whale watching sites in the world, not only because it is right next to the ‘whale highway’, but also because it is only 35m above sea level, making it a prime viewing platform.

The whales travel north past the headland early in the season as they make their way to the calving grounds around the Whitsundays and Hervey Bay. As the year moves on, they return south to their home in the Antarctic, this time with their new babies in tow.

Whale watchers marvel as hundreds of the great creatures swim by, often performing for their audience as they throw their massive bodies from the water in spectacular breaches, or slam the water with powerful tail slaps and create water spouts with their ‘blows’ as they surface.

WHALE WATCHER’S GUIDE

1. THE BLOW
This is usually the first sign of whales in the distance or at close range and it appears above the surface of the water like a blast of steam. This occurs when a whale expels its breath through the blowhole on the top of its head. They release at up to 450km/hr and can reach up to 5m in height making it visible from a distance of up to 2km.

2. FOOTPRINTS
Whales leave a greasy film on the surface of the water – this slick area is known as a footprint. This mark is left from the flukes on the whale’s tail, from the downward stroke in their swimming motion.

3. BREACHING
This is the most spectacular manoeuvre. With two or three beats of its tail, the whale pushes itself into the air throwing itself backwards creating a tremendous slap and splash as its body hits the water.

4. SPY HOPPING
Whales are very inquisitive creatures, and it is common for them to poke their heads vertically out of the water and have a good look around!

5. PECTORIAL FIN EXTENSION
This move will create waves! The whale will wave their fins whilst lying on their back, slapping their fins onto the surface of the water.

6. TAIL SLAP
This move involves slapping the tail fluke down flat on the water – this can be heard for many kilometres and is a way of communicating position to other whales.

7. PEDUNCLE SLAP
The peduncle is the muscular part of the body nearest to the tail flukes. In this movement the tail is slapped in a sideways motion like a karate chop. It is believed to be a sure sign of aggression.

Each year between June and November visitors flock to Point Lookout to witness the annual migration of the humpback whales.
More rare and vagrant species have been found here than at any other terrestrial locality in Australia. Seabirds to look for are crested terns, short-tailed shearwaters, pied cormorants, lesser frigate birds, Australasian gannets and noddys. You can find them feeding in the waters around the headland.

The majestic white-bellied sea eagle, the whistling kite with its shrill call, and the distinctive rust brown and white Brahminy kite are a few of the birds-of-prey commonly seen gliding over the shoreline and headlands in search of small mammals, crabs and fish.

Grey kangaroos can sometimes be seen feeding on the grass around the North Gorge walk in the early morning and late afternoon. They are accustomed to seeing people and, if observed quietly, a range of their behaviours can be enjoyed at close quarters. However, patience is needed to spot the rarer and extremely shy wildlife, such as the golden wallaby.

Seventeen island vertebrate species are rated as being biologically important. These include the agile wallaby, water mouse, the skink (anamalopus truncates), “acid” frogs and the Golden Stradbroke Wallaby. This wallaby is a uniquely coloured variety of the swamp wallaby which occurs only on North and South Stradbroke Islands. Many of the island’s vertebrate animals are rare or uncommon species and populations are small, leading to genetic distinctness. This combined with their shy, secretive natures means only a handful of species are encountered. Larger species are nocturnal and are especially vulnerable to uncontrolled domestic animals and road traffic.

Stradbroke’s lakes include Blue Lake, Brown Lake, the Keyholes, Eighteen Mile Swamp and a series of small lagoons. Early morning or dusk is the best time to see wildlife such as forest birds, goannas, blue tongue lizards and other reptiles.

The Point Lookout headland and surrounds offer excellent viewing for seabird watching.
Brown Lake is easily accessible by conventional vehicle and has amenities such as picnic tables, BBQs and a composting toilet. The natural bushland surrounding the lake is home to many delicate wildflowers, including small ground orchids. In calm conditions, the lake also offers peaceful reflections.

The Keyholes are a freshwater system of rehabilitated mining lakes and lagoons which stretch over 4.5km. These lakes are now home to the island’s massive open air aviary of more than 250 species of native birds.

Stradbroke has its own population of koalas, found near the western swamps, Swan Bay area and around Amity. Koala habitat is protected and managed closely to ensure this unique population is preserved. Mining rehabilitation and many domestic yards have also become habitats for this national iconic species. The headland areas at Point Lookout are made of volcanic rock, estimated to be 120 to 200 million years old. Except for small outcrops of rocks at Dunwich, Stradbroke is composed entirely of sand and sand dunes.

These dunes are precious to the island’s ecology. Formed in glacial times these large parabolic dunes have migrated across almost the entire width of the island. Frontal dune vegetation traps sand and stabilises the fore dunes which form the buffer zone between the beach and the land. The dune stability is very dependent on retention of covering vegetation, such as the pigface (coastal noon flower) ground-creeping plant.

If the vegetation is disturbed or removed, the dunes quickly become mobile and cannot replenish the sand to the beaches. Pandanus palms are also important dune stabilisers and can thrive in the most precarious places. The Pandanus palm has a separate male and female plant and bears large segmented fruits that turn orange when ripe.

Other plants that are easy to find and identify include grass trees, several species of banksia (especially the Wallum and coastal), the beautiful wedding bush, blueberry ash, and tuckeroos with bright orange berries. All of these plants provide habitats and great food for the numerous birds such as rainbow lorikeets, noisy friarbirds (“leatherhead”) and fig birds.

Island ecosystems are known to be very fragile because of their small size and isolation. Their flora and fauna are particularly vulnerable. Several species are already endangered. Stradbroke’s flora and fauna are protected, as most of the island is transitioning to national park because of its valuable and unique natural landscapes.

Wetlands and swamps fringe the island’s northern, eastern and southern shores and inland lakes have formed within inland depressions. Blue Lake (Karboora) and the Eighteen Mile Swamp are freshwater lakes fed from the vast underground aquifer. Brown Lake (Bummiera) is perched above the water table in a depression where accumulated vegetation forms an impervious layer to hold water. These “perched” lakes are vulnerable to disturbance of the impervious layer.
LAKES
North Stradbroke Island has an outstanding freshwater lake system that has been listed as one of the world’s most ecologically important wetlands. These waterways include Blue Lake, Brown Lake, the Keyholes, Eighteen Mile Swamp, Myora Springs and a series of small lagoons.

Blue Lake National Park’s Aboriginal name is Kaboora, meaning ‘silent pool’, and offers a quiet haven for visitors who come to appreciate its natural beauty. Early morning or dusk is the best time to spot wildlife including kangaroos, wallabies, birds and goannas. Blue Lake is not accessible by car. From the car park, it is a 2.5km walk to the lake. There are no facilities at Blue Lake. For a different freshwater experience, Brown Lake is fully accessible by any vehicle and provides picnic tables, BBQs and toilets. An ideal location to enjoy a picnic and a refreshing swim, the lake is located 4km from Dunwich and is accessed via the Trans-Island Road.

HEADLAND WALKS
Straddie’s impressive headland walk, named the North Gorge walk, is located at the north eastern end of Point Lookout and is the best vantage point on the island from which to watch the whales and other marine life pass by.

The walk encompasses the best of both worlds with its exposed and jagged headland on one side and natural bushland on the other. The North Gorge walk leads up to a unique rock formation known as the Blowhole, a fantastic viewing platform from which to watch the migrating humpback whales. This walk is a Straddie icon and reveals just how pristine and unspoiled the island truly is.

BEACHES
From the rolling surf at Point Lookout to the calm waters of Amity Point and Dunwich, North Stradbroke Island has a range of beaches to suit your needs. The Point Lookout Surf Life Saving Club and life guards provide patrols at Cylinder and Main beaches, which are suitable for swimming, surfing and fishing. Point Lookout also provides access to Main Beach and Flinders Beach. These beaches can only be accessed with a 4WD vehicle, however beach permits must be purchased prior to access.
Day Trips

Despite being located so conveniently close to Brisbane, North Stradbroke Island offers a whole new world to explore.

The starting point of your day trip to North Stradbroke Island begins in the bayside town of Cleveland, located only one hour from the Gold Coast and 45 minutes from the Brisbane CBD. The trip across Moreton Bay takes only 45 minutes by vehicle ferry, where you can enjoy a coffee or light meal at the café on board. The glass windows on the Big Red Cat provide an excellent opportunity to spot an array of marine life in the bay, including dolphins, turtles, and sometimes even dugongs. Alternatively, browse the impressive local Aboriginal artworks on the Minjerribah vehicle ferry while you cross the bay. If you are taking the Stradbroke Ferries passenger ferry service, the trip is a quick 25 minutes.

The ferries arrive in the small town of Dunwich, which has a rich and interesting history. The Dunwich area is called Goompie by the local Aboriginal people, from a word meaning ‘pearl oyster’. While you’re in Dunwich, take the opportunity to visit the North Stradbroke Island Historical Museum, the Salt Water Murris’ – Quandamooka Art Gallery or enjoy a meal at one of the cafés or clubs. There is also a swimming enclosure located close to the ferry terminal.

Once you are ready to make your way to Point Lookout, you can either take the local bus service or follow the signs along East Coast Road all the way to the surf side of the island, located only 20km from the township of Dunwich. Alternatively you may like to visit Amity Point, a quaint fishing village located at the north western end of the island.

Whether you want to relax with spectacular views across the ocean or explore rocky outcrops, tidal pools and seemingly endless beaches, Point Lookout has something for everyone. The breathtaking North Gorge walk is the perfect year-round vantage point for spotting turtles, dolphins and manta rays, and between June and November, one of the best spots on the east coast to watch the annual migration of humpback whales.

Point Lookout is home to an impressive variety of restaurants, cafés and souvenir shops. You can enjoy a simple fish and chip lunch, choose from gourmet à la carte meals in a restaurant, take your own picnic and even sample some of Straddle’s famous fresh seafood from the local fishermen.

For those who seek adventure, activities at Point Lookout include guided 4WD tours, sand boarding, surfing, scuba diving and snorkelling.

Whether you wish to take your car or discover the island by foot, Straddie is the perfect destination for a day trip.
